

PUBLICATION SCHEME

Under the Freedom of Information Act 2000, Glenhaven must have a “publication scheme” where we are obliged to supply to any interested party any information we may hold on them or our practice.

The classes of information provided in the publication scheme may include:

- Organisational information, structures, location and contacts
- Financial information.
- Strategies and plans, performance indicators, audits, inspections and reviews
- Decision making processes and records of decisions
- Current written protocols, policies and procedures for delivering our services and responsibilities
- Currently maintained lists and registers, Information about the services we offer, including leaflets, guidance and newsletters produced from the public and businesses

The Publication Scheme is a complete guide to the information routinely made available to the public by Glenhaven. It is a description of the information about our Dental Practice which we make publicly available. Some information will not be made readily available. This policy will be reviewed at regular intervals and we will monitor its effectiveness.

How much does it cost?

The publications are all free unless otherwise indicated. Where information is provided at a cost, the charges will be calculated, and you will be informed in advance as discussed below.

How this information is made available

The information you require will either be displayed on the Practice Website (glenhaven.dental) or available in hard copy (upon request) from Glenhaven.

Your Rights to the Information

- The Freedom of Information Act 2000 recognises that members of the public have the right to know how public services are organised and run, how much they cost and how the decisions at Glenhaven are made
- Glenhaven is obliged to respond to requests about information that it holds and recorded in any format and it will create a right of access to such information. These rights are subject to exemptions which must be taken into consideration before deciding what information the business can release. Some of these included exemptions are described below;
  - Some exemptions apply only to a particular category or class of information, such as information held for criminal investigations or relating to correspondence with the royal family. These are called class-based exemptions.
  - Some exemptions require us to judge whether disclosure may cause a specific type of harm, for instance, endangering health and safety, prejudicing law enforcement, or prejudicing someone’s commercial interests. These are called prejudice-based exemptions. This distinction between ‘class-based’ and ‘prejudice-based’ is not in the wording of the Act but many people find it a useful way of thinking about the exemptions.

- The Freedom of Information Act also often refers to other legislation or common law principles, such as confidentiality, legal professional privilege, or data protection. In many cases, we may need to apply some kind of legal 'test' - it is not as straightforward as identifying that information fits a specific description. It is important to read the full wording of any exemption, and if necessary consult our guidance, before trying to rely on it.
- All the exemptions can be found in Part II of the Act, at sections 21 to 44.
- Under the Data Protection Act, patients are also entitled to access their dental records or any other personal information held about them. Patients should contact (in writing) the Practice Director Denise Griffiths or the Business Manager Christopher Griffiths to do this.

Feedback

Glenhaven has produced this guide in order to comply with the Freedom of Information Act 2000. The purpose of the Act is to encourage organisations working for the public to be more open about the information they have. If a patient has any views, comments or suggestions that they wish to communicate with the practice then they should contact (in writing) either the Practice Director Denise Griffiths or the Business Manager Christopher Griffiths at our Practice Address: Glenhaven, 129 Cardiff Road, Taffs Well, CF15 7PP or alternatively by email at enquires@glenhavendentalcare.com.
